ZINFANDEL

2011 TIMBERLINE

The 2011 Timberline is a brilliant, deep red color and is packed with intense aromas of cloves, fresh peppercorns and caramel framed by layers and layers of dark summer fruit like plums and black cherries. Fresh and vibrant upon the entry, the wine is juicy and soft with delicate tannins woven nicely into flavors of blackberries, cedar and dark chocolate. The feel and flavors of this wine transition seamlessly between one another in this multi-layered wine. Drink now through 2018. -JS

VINTAGE: 2011

The harvest of 2011 had a cool wet spring and cool summer providing moderate growing conditions and a crop size small enough to take advantage of the cool weather. About mid-October a series of storms that usually stay in Washington State and Oregon decided on a not so small excursion to Northern California. These early rains made for a challenging harvest, but the dedication of growers to wait for grapes to dry out coupled with the winemaking team going around the clock when the weather was good, resulted in some really nice wines. The colors are dark, rivaling the 2010 vintage, flavors are luscious and tannins moderate.
